

CHRIST THE SAVIOUR

THE LAST SUPPER, TINTORETTO (1518-1594)

Who was Jesus? Whom did he save and from what? Is he still saving? Over 2000 years ago the man Jesus trod this earth and his whole life is recorded in the Bible. His miracles prove that he was the Christ, the Son of God.

He came to save man from the power of the Devil – Hell in fact. On the third day he rose from the dead and conquered Hell, he sprang from the ground and reigns supreme with his father in heaven.

Such is his love that He can reach down to lowly mortals and convert them to his ways which are obvious to the loving and caring. Christ reaches us through the soul and his effect is spiritual. To be told that you have a spirit at all is a great joy to many. The effect of the spirit on the body is palpable.

Christ is someone I can tell my troubles to and may well be saving me from countless disasters. I am in the hands of God. Naturally therefore I try to stay good and true. It is a relationship full of joy and hope; as bright as the sun light that fills the chair opposite. My only experience of Jesus is light and love. And inspiration. He inspires me to extol his praises wherever and whenever I can. I did this for five years as a chorister of Winchester Cathedral and it has seeped into my soul. Not forgotten by the ravages of time.

My testament is nothing new but it is heartfelt and sincere. I could not live at all without my Lord; I come back to Him on countless occasions and can almost hear his love. I pray selfish prayers for me and the world and He often answers them favourably. Such is life. Such is progress.

One day I will embrace Him in heaven. Jesus has granted the true Christian eternal life. No other prize can beat this, not even the World Cup. Thanks be to God.
