

Composer's note re "Poor Miss Pringle"

Though I have often joked on stage that Miss Pringle is in fact our very own Gill Whittingham, this is definitely not so, Miss Pringle is in many ways a conglomeration of three of my early primary school teachers. The nativity play productions always seemed to have problems, as is evidently the case in many other schools, from the feedback I have received in singing this song and the stories I have been told of similar 'disasters' occurring in these productions.
