

Result of the September Caption Competition

“Do you think they all forgot to put their clocks forward?”

“Am I right for the interviews for the church cleaning rota?”

“Look, we can't sell the chairs off. We might need them one day!”

“Not enough of us to play Chinese whispers yet!”

“Which side will you take the collection from today?”

“Go on! Tell me where you bought your sandals!”

The only two non-believers at a packed ‘Spiritualism through the ages’ annual conference !

“Sorry Lorna, but for being a bad girl you must sit on the naughty chair until I say you can move !”

“I thought you said we would chair the meeting, not meet the chairing !

Jill is saying to Lorna, ' Are you sure there is a service today?'

Lorna is saying to Jill, 'You can come a little closer, I won't bite!'

Lorna is saying to Jill, 'Do you get that feeling, That no-one cares?'

“Sandalmas! We should have known better, it was a typo in Stop Press, it should have read Candlemas.”